For a match game Star Sweet is pretty much run of the mill. It does what it does well but boring for a match three game.. I liked match3 games, including this one, but sometimes you get bored because this word "No More Moves". Overall Good Games..

Unnecessary difficulty. The patterns where you can't access the crystals make this game a gamble, where you need extreme luck to progress. Alongside the other features like frozen crystals and the breakout tiles, you probably soon repeat each level multiple times before the unforgiving clock kicks you out one step before the finish. Or you make one move, are out of moves, shuffling, deleting the extremely scarce and vital time bonus, make a move, run out of moves, rinse and repeat. If you like a very long run to get an achievement for each of the 297 levels, you get a lot of game for small bucks. I would give a neutral review if possible.. Unnecessary difficulty. Literally candy crush lmao 10/10 too much water. This game is ridiculous in a very good way. Great time waster and very addicting. Some levels can be a little frustrating, but other than that it's good. It reminds me a lot of Columns from Sega, of which I've been addicted to since I was young.
